President

"The young men or women who have been brought up within the religious environment of a Christian home have much to be grateful for. The heritage of a deep faith and piety is not to be considered the least among the good things young people get from such a home. In this particular time when much that in the past has been esteemed and honored is being challenged and ideas of what constitute the fundamental things are in a flux, some sure and steadfast anchorage is greatly needed. An attempt to rationalize all that comes within the range of human experience or observation will result in disappointment. The only satisfying solution to the problems of life lies in a simple, humble faith in an all-wise Providence whose ways are past finding out but who through the long ages has not allowed one of all his good promises to fail."

—SANFORD C. YODER.

NOAH OYER, Th. B.
Dean

Dean Oyer has passed to his spiritual abode, but his life continues to live on in the hearts and lives of all with whom he came in contact. He was a man, calm and deliberate, devoted to the duties of his office, yet sincerely concerned about the spiritual welfare of every student on the campus. He was a firm believer in a virile, aggressive Christianity, putting into living experience the teachings of the Sermon on the Mount. With no thought of reward, he endeavored to live the life of a true follower of Christ, and to demonstrate that Christianity is practical. His life is a challenge to all who have had the privilege of knowing him. As an educator he supported a program of high scholastic achievement, with the fullest development of the higher life of the student as its goal. Goshen College will always cherish the memory of Dean Oyer as one whose influence, strong while living, is but multiplied in death. May his ideals and objectives continue to be the program of the college of which his life will always be a part.

In Memoriam

DEAN NOAH OYER

1891 - 1931

The passing of Noah Oyer has taken from the college its dean and head of the Bible Department, from the college church its pastor, from the church at large an able and untiring worker, and from a large circle of students, alumni, and acquaintances a cherished friend. His death in the period of his life when his splendid abilities were rising to their zenith is a distinct loss to every group and organization with which he was connected.

Brother Oyer, as he was know to a host of intimate friends, was born into a typical Amish Mennonite home in Central Illinois. By heritage, training, and environment he learned to appreciate simplicity and to see the beauty in the common things with which he was surrounded. These qualities characterized his entire life and teaching. He was great in his humility, kindliness, and unassuming nature which made him appreciated by all who learned to know him.

As a Christian scholar and educator his attainments were recognized in the circles in which he moved. Having received practically all his training under the influence of a Christian college, his early convictions became definately formulated and deepened, and ripened into a mature Christian scholarship which the Church in every period of its history has always stood in need of. His high school studies and undergraduate work in college were completed at Hesston Academy and Hesston College and Bible School, from which he was graduated with the Bachelor of Arts degree in 1919. In the autumn of 1920 he entered Princeton Theological Seminary where he received the degree of Bachelor of Theology in 1922. By this time he had also practically completed the requirements for the Master of Arts degree at Franklin and Marshall College. The past two summers were spent in study at the Biblical Seminary in New York and at Columbia University. Throughout his training he maintained his simple faith in the Word of God and the Gospel of Jesus Christ. As the years went by, his devotion to the Word increased and his chief interest was that his students and his congregation might fully receive its message. He was equally concerned that the message of the Word of God be translated into living character by all who had received Christ as their Savior and Lord. As a Bible scholar he excelled. Having been more or less associated with him for the last fifteen years, and very intimately for the past seven, I consider him to have been one of the ablest Biblical scholars and interpreters in the Mennonite Church.

He came to Goshen College seven years ago, entering at once upon the duties of the office of Dean of the College, a position which he held until his death. His administration of the affairs of this office were marked by the same spirit that characterized all his work. He was considerate, even-tempered, slow to make a decision until all the facts were known. He was thorough, painstaking, and deliberate, possessing qualities which made him a dependable counsellor and fitted him eminently for the work in which he was engaged.

Under Dean Oyer's direction and leadership Goshen College steadily grew in program and effectiveness and in educational standing. Although his training was primarily in the field of theology, he had a grasp of educational problems and a conversance with current educational trends that was of great value to him in his service to the college. In the faculties of which he was a member, both at Hesston College and Goshen College, he was regarded as an educator of insight and vision, one who could build an effective working program to attain the ideals which he and the faculties espoused. He recognized the great importance of developing effective methods of teaching and insisted that it was the obligation of a teacher first of all to deal with students as personalities and not as elements of a machine, that the teacher's work was to teach people and not courses. By this emphasis he set up as the true goal of education the development of personality, a personality which for him meant the full rounded Christian personality, fully equipped to live the highest type of Christian life in the modern world—free, strong, and fearless. Dean Oyer believed thoroughly also in the necessity of developing a Christian philosophy of life as the guiding faith. He felt that the college should not fail in helping the student to discover this philosophy, and insisted that every faculty member was bound to make his contribution toward this end.

His ministerial career began with his ordination at Hesston, Kansas, in 1923. During his ministry he served the Hesston congregation as well as the Goshen College congregation as pastor. Almost immediately after his graduation from the Seminary to take up his work in the church, he was called to larger and wider fields of service, and became actively indentified with the local and church-wide organizations that have to do with the teaching end of Christian service. At the time of his death he was chairman of the General Sunday School Committee, the Young People's Topics Committee, the Young People's Problems Committee, and also a member of the Mennonite Board of Education.

Rarely does God entrust to one individual the gifts which were his and of which he was so trustworthy a steward. To laud him would be out of harmony with his ideal of Christian humility. The tribute which has been made in these lines is given only as an expression of appreciaton for what the Spirit of God was able to accomplish through his life and what this life has meant to all who knew him and to the institutions which he served. His life is ended; his race is won, but his work cannot and will not cease. In death his life is multiplied, and the sweet influence of that life will continue in the lives of the host of students, co-workers, and friends who will live nobler lives because of what Noah Oyer meant to them. His monument will not be found in books or buildings, or wealth, but in the lasting record of himself in the lives of the individuals and institutions of which he had become a part. We do not know the ways of God, nor the providence which His wisdom has ordained for us, nor is it necessary to know. But the cause dare not cease because a worker has fallen. It remains for those who are left to gird up their strength and in the name of God carry on. It is theirs to complete the unfinished tasks of those who have had to lay them down. With a faith unshaken and a courage undaunted, let us rally to the standard of Christ and the program of His cause, let us close the ranks and heal the breach that death has made.

—President Sanford Calvin Yoder.

SENIOR

The Class of '31

Leonard Kreider	Treasurer
Rachel Weaver	Historian

And now we are Seniors! What a short four years our organization has lived, as could we testify at our "Do-you-remember-when" party, when with our former classmates we looked back on the interesting things done by our interesting people. It was a daring group of seventy-three freshmen that asked for admittance in 1927, full of pep and excess energy. Strange, is it not, that we had to be so broken in and toned down that now thirty Seniors comprise the quietest and busiest of classes.

Our sponsor class had seen us safely launched that first fall under our new constitution, with Abram Hallman at the controls and Professor Hershberger, who has been our most faithful friend these four years, as faculty adviser. Though we took tradition's hint in ordering the Tribune for the College, we nevertheless spent most of those first two years in helping ourselves—adjusting, reshaping, and getting acquainted. The woods social, hard times' party, Hallowe'en good times, and June outings at various lakes greatly contributed to this end. Valentine parties have been popular with us with their heart puzzles, heart eating, and hearts' easing. Particularly memorable was the exciting social in the Benton woods, when we stole away from the Freshmen. As Juniors we entertained on two occasions our freshman charges, the Class of '33, and also gave the Seniors a most successful banquet.

Athletics claimed a prominent share of our attention during our first year, and our men came through the basketball season without a single defeat. The girls, however, with repeated ties, reluctantly yielded the victories for two years to the class ahead of us. As Juniors they retaliated with a vengeance. The result was ecstatic. Individual honors in tennis and track came in goodly proportions to our class. Forensic contests also remembered us, yet we swallow sighs when you ask us about our debating. The men may have had their difficulties, but we hasten to add that our girls won both their debates.

As upperclassmen every incentive was given us to settle down and be of use to our school. We were proud to have some of the most prominent campus figures in our group. Places of responsibility were opening up. And now we had received the school emblems and were full-fledged Seniors. We had Cabinet chairs to occupy; there were places for us on the publication staffs; a number of student teachers rose from our ranks. We were bending every effort toward a successful closing year, when one of our most valuable pillars was obliged to discontinue her work. Ruth left many vacancies, but, supported by her cheerful letters, we tried to take up what her capable head and hands had begun for us.

Eager as we are to leave our Alma Mater to put into practice our accumulated experience, we will always cherish the fondest memories of college days. To make our expression tangible we have placed in the new college dining hall a new set of equipment,—chairs, silverware, and chinaware. May the future student generations who use this gift remember that it was the loyalty of the class of '31 to its Alma Mater that placed it there.

"Heave Ho my lads! The wind blows free. A pleasant gale is on our lea" —chorused a crew of ninety as they started to sail the sea of Education on September 11, 1929 in their gallant ship the "Freshman." After a few weeks towing from the ship "Junior" the "Freshman" lifted its anchor "Truth, Loyalty, and Service", flew high its banner of purple and gold, and with James Steiner as pilot bravely battled alone. Many storms arose, the fiercest being the basketball and debate. Yet, the sturdy ship pulled bravely through the storms, for the men won the championship in basketball and received the decision in the Sophomore - Freshman debate. The parties on board, held at Hallowe'en and late in the Spring, brought the crew into close friendship and it was a sad group that left the "Freshman" at commencement, some never to return, others coming back to continue their voyage.

On September 17, 1930 forty-six ambitious and lively students boarded the worthy ship "Sophomore" to guide it on the second lap of the journey on the sea of Education. The pilot of the former journey having been transferred to another ship, the crew elected a new pilot, Glenwood Schertz. Loyally did each member of the crew take his place to help launch the ship. Again our banner of purple and gold flew high as the anchor "Truth, Loyalty and Service" was raised and the "Sophomore" sailed away happily on a calm, smooth sea.

But the storms of opposition soon began to rise. The Sophomore men's team met the Freshmen team in debate upholding the affirmative side of the question, Resolved: That installment buying of consumption goods should be condemned, and received a two to one decision in their favor. Because of his unusual ability displayed in this debate, our pilot was chosen to represent the college in Intercollegiate debate.

The sea was smooth again for a short while, yet it was not long till rolling Basketball waves warned us of danger. Every game played rolled the waves of enthusiasm higher and more fierce till the winds of opposition threatened the ship in the final tournament game. The "Sophomore" lost in the battle but gained second place in the tournament.

The journey would not have been complete without some "sociables." There was a steak fry on the forepart of the trip and a valentine party later on, games around a camp fire, a scramble for shoes and partners made all feel glad there was a good crew on the "Sophomore."

During the course of the year a few of the crew left but others came, so the gap was not very large and the ship kept on. Many of the crew do not plan to return and to these the wish of greatest success is given. But as the ship "Sophomore" again slowly, reluctantly journeys towards its journeys end the crew bravely say,

"Thou too Sail on, O Ship of State,
Sail on, O Sophomore, strong and great.
Sail forth with many a loyal crew,
And many a tie of love renew.
Yet we who on the sea have roved
With thee, and shared thy bounteous love
Do pledge our hearts and hands to thee
The token of our loyalty."

FRESHMAN

The Class of '34

SAMUEL HERSHBERGER ..... President
PAUL ZOOK ..... V. President
MIRIAM HOSTETLER ..... Secretary
GEORGE BISHOP ..... Treasurer

When the Goshen College aviation field had its Grand Opening on September 17, 1930, there were fifty-four freshman on hand to make their initial nine-month cruise. Because we were amateur fliers, the Junior class appointed an experienced pilot and mechanics to take charge of our activities. On October 3, they sponsored a trial flight to College Point where they delightfully entertained us with a wiener roast and games. On the return trip we were better acquainted with each other and each of us carried a capacity load of salad, sandwiches, coffee, marshmallows and watermelon. Because none of the members of the party were disabled on account of "plane-sickness", we were deemed experienced enough to take off in our own plane on our long trip. Therefore, on November 3rd we met to christen our plane "Non Scholae Sed Vit Discimus." Samuel Hershberger was motioned to the controls with Paul Zook as co-pilot. Miriam Hostetler became keeper of the log. Mildred Risdon as historian succeeded Fred Stalter after the first semester, and George Bishop became our mechanic. Professor John S. Umble was added to the ship's crew as general overseer. With these officers the Crimson and White plane headed from the flying field into the unknown.

Before proceeding far, an enemy plane, the Sophomore, was sighted. The Sophomore's trained marksmen proved themselves superior to the '34's machine gunners in a debate battle entitled "Instalment Buying." Samuel Hershberger, Ellis Martin and Paul Zook manned the guns in this battle. Fred Stalter kept the fighters in trim with plenty of water. Previous to this, however, Joe Bradford, sharpshooter of our plane, winged all hostile ships with his accurate "gat" and won the fall tennis tourney from three older players.

All hands were summoned to the dining parlor by Captain Birky of the social committee on March 7th to participate in a good time. The Home Economics room in the Science Hall was the center of this recreation.

The Spirit of '34 proved itself superior to its sister ships and had unbroken records in both women's and men's basketball. The women's team was captained by Mary Roth. Laverne Schertz, Alverda Schertz, Ruby Yontz, Evelyn Mast, Charity Yoder, Thelma Griffith, Edna Kauffman, Carolyn Lehman, and Laverne Yoder composed the firing squad for the girls. The boys Freshman A team, which won both the first and second semester championship, consisted of Joe Bradford, Harry Snobarger, Glen Mast, Joe Curtis, Robert Shideler, Paul Zook, Leland Brenneman and Lloyd Hostetler. At the start of the second semester our team was greatly bolstered by the addition of two former Goshen High School stars—Paul George and Daniel Yoder. The Freshman B team had the services of George Bishop, Loyal Neff, Orin Beechy, Don Fuss, Samuel Hershberger, John Williams and Fred Stalter.

The most recent reports from the plane indicate that the mid-semester examinations have been reached and successfully passed. The social committee is planning for another party and an all-day social. Our crew includes persons from India, South America, Canada, and eight states of the United States. Observers say that the plane is running beautifully. Expectations of making a three point landing at the end of the trip, the summer recess, are exceptionally bright.

FREEMAN S. GINGRICH Waterloo, Ontario
President

"We'll have to get something done! We can't waste any more time! There are more important things than this!"—that's Freeman. He diligently overcomes handicaps and consistently masters his school work. Deep loyalty to principle marks his character.

UNA CRESSMAN Kitchener, Ontario

It is one thing to get friendship but it is another thing to hold it and build it; Una does both. Although Una is quiet, she is active in Literary work and in the classroom. She is a diligent worker and a superior student.

VIVERON HOFFMAN Goshen, Indiana

Reticent, quiet, big-hearted Viveron makes his contribution in mathematics classes and on the tennis court. His droll humor and pleasant smile add to the spice of our Literary Society, and to the social life of the Academy.

ORLIN P. REEDY Cullom, Illinois

Here is an exception to the rule that only fat men are jolly. "Reedy" is a bit hesitant, but is very kind and trustworthy. He is one of those workers who just keep "at it" until they succeed.

CLASS HISTORY

In September, 1927, a group of fourteen students entered Goshen College Academy as Freshmen. The high ideals of these young men and women caused them to make this school their choice in which to get their high school training. A large number of these looked forward to the time when they would receive their diploma. They took as their motto "Rowing, not Drifting". As Freshmen they enjoyed a happy year together.

At the beginning of the Sophomore year only six of the former members of the class returned, but three others joined them, making a class of nine. Going deeper into school work, they felt a greater responsibility, and at the close of the year thought they were very rapidly nearing graduation.

Viveron Hoffman found himself to be the only original member of the class in the Junior year. At this time three others joined him. Two members of the former year joined the graduating class of this year, and a number, on account of unfortunate circumstances, were forced to discontinue their work.

The Class of 1931 now finds itself with four members. Two of the members, Viveron Hoffman and Una Cressman, started with the Class of 1927. Orlin Reedy and Freeman S. Gingrich are the other two members.

FRESHMEN: Ada Bender, Clark Brenneman, Harold Burkholder, Violet Schantz.

The Academy of 1930-31, although made up of less than ten percent of the entire enrollment, is a live part of the institution and makes a worthy contribution to the school. Some of this group are preparing directly for college entrance, others for nurse's training, while a number are fitting themselves for better work in their home and church communities. Their various needs are met by academic courses taught by Christian instructors, who are adequately prepared in their fields: by extra-curricular activities; and by the personal contacts made with Christian young men and women. Their talents find expression in the religious, literary, social, and athletic activities of the school. Some of the students are busy in committees of the Y. P. C. A., several take an aggressive and constructive part in the mission work in east Goshen, some are active on the tennis courts and field, about one-fifth are chorus members, and a large percentage are vitally interested in the work of Christian Worker's Band and also the Foreign Volunteer Band.

Although the graduating class is noticeably smaller than it has been in the past, indications for a larger group next year are encouraging.

Since 1925 the summer session has been increasing its field of usefulness each summer. The attendance of 83 though still small, has grown so that for the summer of 1930 there was an increase of 100% over 1928.

The faculty for the past summer was composed of six full time instructors doing college teaching, along with two others who taught in the academy. All the college teachers were chosen from the regular teaching force of the institution, except Mr. O. L. Walter, principal of the Goshen High School, who taught courses in Education, and Miss Dula Roth, an alumna of the college.

The departments offering courses during the summer were: biological science, history, economics, psychology, English, education, and modern languages. The largest class for the summer was American literature. There were large classes also in education, in the biological sciences, and in American history.

Most of the students for the past summer were teachers who wished to further their scholastic training regardless of further license requirements. However, a number also were pursuing courses directly related to license requirements for teaching in the elementary schools of Ohio. There were several students from a number of colleges in this and surrounding states, who were here for the summer only. Some of the institutions thus represented were: Wabash College, Oberlin College, Indiana Central College, Manchester College, St. Mary's College, DePauw University, Bluffton College, Bowling Green State College, Ashland College, Mount Morris College, Hesston College, Purdue University, and the University of Michigan.

The work of the summer school has been so planned that in most of the classes the work of a three hour course for a semester is offered. By meeting six times per week, for the nine weeks this can be done. In spite of the warm summer a good grade of work was done by those in attendance.

—Silas Hertzler,
Director of the Summer Session.

The Special Bible Term

The Special Bible Term of Goshen College is not a new feature of the institution. It has been conducted annually for a number of years with real satisfaction to the faculty and service to many young people of Indiana, and the surrounding states.

Its aim has been to serve a group of people who find it impossible or impracticable to attend the regular courses and yet want to continue their study. It has proved to be a help to Sunday School and Young People's Meeting Workers as well as to a larger group who come simply to increase their knowledge of the Bible.

Three years ago a new curriculum was instituted with a view of covering the entire Bible and some related subjects in a period of six years upon the completion of which a certificate will be granted. In the past winter the third year's work was offered and a number who were enrolled from the beginning have indicated their intention of completing the course.

D. A. Yoder, and D. D. Miller served as the special instructors during the Short Term, and H. S. Bender, S. C. Yoder, and B. F. Hartzler of the College staff assisted in the work. In spite of the adverse financial conditions the attendance was good and the Short Bible Term one of the most succesful in recent years.

Several additional features tend to add interest to this effort and increase its usefulness. For several years past the Indiana-Michigan Sunday School Conference has conducted a Sunday School Institute during this period which enabled the students to come in contact with a large number of workers of the district. A Minister's Institute is also held immediately after the close of the term. This brings in many ministers and Church workers from the churches around Goshen and the surrounding states. This year the instructors and speakers for this occasion were, Milo Kauffman, Chicago, Illinois; Simon Gingerich, Wayland, Iowa; Otis Johns, Canton, Ohio; C. F. Derstine, Kitchener, Ontario; I. W. Royer, Orrville, Ohio; Edwin Yoder, Topeka, Indiana, and H. S. Bender, Goshen, Indiana. The meeting while not the largest in attendance was one of the very best ever held.

The final program for the term is the annual Christian Life Conference. This session brings to the campus many of the leaders of the church and gives the student body the privilege of becoming better acquainted with these men. The general theme this year was "Christian Living". It was divided into the following sub-themes, "The Call to Holy Living", "The Source of Power", "Victorious Living", and "The Heights of Christian Living." The interest manifested by the surrounding churches and the students was very encouraging. The discourses and discussions on these practical phases of Christian living cannot help but be an aid to everyone endeavoring to be of the most service in the Kingdom.

The Bible School

From the beginning of its history, Goshen College has emphasized the work of the Bible School. A large number of Christian workers, including many foreign missionaries, home missionaries, and ministers, have profited from a year or more of study in this department. The curriculum offered in this field is designed to meet the needs of three types of students. Six hours of Bible is required of all college students. Usually students take four hours of beginning Bible in New Testament History or Old Testament History in the freshman or sophomore years, followed by an advanced course in the Life of Christ or the Pauline Epistles in the senior year. However there are always students who are interested in special preparation for active Christian service and who take either a major in Bible which means approximately thirty hours of such work, or who take the two-year Bible course, which contains about the same amount of work but does not give a degree. Every year there are two or three students graduating with this type of work. The third group of students which is served by the Bible School is that which comes to the college for a special Bible term of six weeks in the months of January and February. An average of twenty-five young people from the rural communities of the middle west take advantage of this course every year and testify to its interest and value. This special Bible course is so organized as to cover a period of six years so that ultimately a student who completes the entire course will have taken thirty-six weeks of solid Bible work. The third year of the six-year course was given during this past year.

The interest of the students in the Bible courses is gratifying. On the average more than one-half the students register in one or more Bible courses every year. It must be remembered that in addition to the regular Bible courses which are taken as a part of the curriculum work there are also volunteer Bible study classes which meet weekly during the first semester and which enroll a large percentage of the resident student body. To meet the needs of the average student in the college the curriculum of the Bible school is directed along practical lines which will enable the student to come directly in contact with the Scriptures and their teachings so as to make them a part of his life.

A valuable feature of the work of the Bible school which should not be omitted is the annual Ministers' Week and Christian Life Conference which are held at the close of the Special Bible Term. This year again very successful programs were arranged which attracted large numbers of ministers and young people. Over two hundred visitors came to attend one or both of these programs. The student body and college community are much benefited by these programs. The college feels also that it is rendering a distinct service to its constituency in providing for these special needs.

The Bible school suffered a great loss in the passing of *Dean Noah Oyer on February 25, 1931. Noah Oyer had been Dean of the Bible school since 1924. He did most of the direct Bible teaching and had built up a number of courses to the point where they were unusually valuable. This was especially true of his course in the Life of Christ, Pauline Epistles, and Religious Education. He had a vision of increasing usefulness and expansion for the Bible school which he was not permitted to help to accomplish. The Bible School will however press forward with vision and confidence in the future, trusting that under the providence of God the work may be strengthened and improved in spite of the loss which has been suffered.

*Deceased, February 25, 1931.

Mission Sunday Schools

Within the last year a phase of activity has developed at Goshen College which has proved very interesting and inspirational to all those who have participated in it. In the Fall of 1929, through the efforts of the Extension Committee, a survey was made in Goshen of the district on Eighth, Ninth, Olive, and Crescent streets north of the New York Central Tracks. Later a similar survey was made of East Goshen. A systematic plan for the distribution of Gospel literature was inaugurated at once.

After several months of this work it was felt that definite steps should be taken to supply Sunday School privileges for the people of this territory. As a result, on July 20, the first East Goshen Sunday School was opened in a private garage, with an attendance of twenty-four. A few weeks later the place of meeting was changed to the East Goshen Public School Building, where the Sunday School has been conducted to the present time. After the organization of the above work, some of the workers began bringing children from the North Side to the Sunday School. The interest grew until as high as fifty-five were brought over from the North Side. The record attendance at East Goshen was one - hundred twelve. This number filled the building to capacity. With winter coming on, the problem of transporting from twenty-five to fifty children, a mile each Sunday became more complicated. To relieve this situation a vacant residence was rented at 127 Crescent street. The College Sunday School provided the supplies, and rental for the building. Here the North Side Sunday School met for the first time on January 4, 1931, with an attendance of thirty-five. There are now seventy-seven enrolled at this place. East Goshen has an enrollment of seventy-one.

There are some fine people in these districts. Many of them are simply the victims of circumstances. The present economic depression has thrown them out of work, cut off their meager income, and placed them into an embarassing situation financially. During the winter considerable relief work was made possible through the contribution of clothing, food, and funds by the members of the College congregation. Seventeen of the more needy families received assistance in this way.

Every Saturday some workers go out to do visitation work. Efforts are made to visit absentees, call on the sick, get acquainted with the homes from which the children come, render assistance where the necessities of life are lacking, and above all, to direct them to the One who is able to save from the power of sin.

There is a large field teeming with opportunities for Christian service in this section of the city. Goshen has many churches, but the people of this area do not fit into the organized congregations very well. There is a great need for a church in North Goshen. Many of these people are sadly in need of employment, they are desperately in need of food, but more than either of these factors, they are in need of a saving knowledge of Jesus Christ.

Special and Evening Students

For the benefit of public school teachers, and others who cannot take regular work at the college and yet have some time for study, the college each year offers a number of adjunct courses. These courses are taught by regular instructors after school hours and at places to suit the convenience of those enrolled. While the work is offered primarily to accommodate teachers in service the courses are of such character that they are of interest to anyone who desires to pursue advanced studies. All of the courses give credit toward the completion of the work required for the bachelor's degree.

This year five adjunct classes were organized and continued throughout the year. All met at the college one or two evenings each week. The classes organized with the instructors in charge were as follows: Professor Umble, English Composition; Professor Smith, Recent American History; Professor Witmer, Physiology and Hygiene; Mrs. Enss, Elementary German; Professor Roland Yoder, Principles of Investment and Finance. A total of twenty-five students were enrolled in these classes. A special mid-spring term of six weeks, beginning April 27, 1931 was offered this year. Ten college students were registered.

The Student Council, though oft times inconspicuous, plays an important part on the college campus. The purpose of the council is to foster and promote ideals and standards in the college. It is the only organization representing the entire student body and consequently its function is to care for the problems relative to the general interests of the student body and to direct the sentiment of the student body into worthy channels. More particularly, it is the purpose of this organization to act as a medium through which the student and faculty opinion and efforts may be blended into united activity for the welfare of the college.

As in former years, the council has had charge of certain all-school projects. In connection with the college chorus it arranged for the annual Yule-tide caroling of the faculty and friends of the college. Another project was the courtesy-week program. During this week the attention of the student body was called to a number of phases of courtesy by an after-chapel program and also by means of posters. A feature of considerable interest was the courtesy-week contest. During the week each student was asked to select the most courteous young man and young woman. A vote of the student body resulted in the choice of Verna Schertz and Ellis Hostetler.

The Young Men's Christian Association, a division of the Young People's Christian Association, has for its objective the purpose to bring the men of Goshen College closer to Jesus Christ, and to foster a genuine Christian experience and fellowship. Through this organization opportunities are also afforded to students to actually engage in some phase of religious activity. A variety of activities is provided to serve the interests and needs of every student, such as Bible and Mission Study classes, extension work, prayer meetings, socials, employment service, etc. Eight committees compose the organization. The chairman of each committee together with the president and secretary constitute the Y. M. C. A. cabinet. This group works conjointly with the Y. W. C. A. cabinet on all projects of mutual interest. Together the two form the Young People's Christian Association, which assumes responsibility for all the student religious life and activity in the college in cooperation with the faculty. Every committee has done splendid work this year and their efforts and cooperation are sincerely appreciated.

The purpose of the Y. W. C. A. of Goshen College is to realize our motto "To know Christ and to make Him known." "That we might know Him" we have purposed in His strength to lead each girl to faith in God through Jesus Christ; to help each one to form a more vital fellowship with Christ by means of Bible study and prayer; and to promote a deeper feeling of worship through the weekly devotional and prayer meetings. We would endeavor "to make Him known" by promoting throughout the college a positive Christian spirit; and presenting the challenge of the world's needs so that each girl may feel her responsibility to give of herself and her substance. Various committees cooperating with the committees of the Y. M. contribute to this end by conducting Bible and Misison study classes, devotional and prayer meetings, and promoting wholesome social activities. The Y. W. attempts to go deep into the hearts and minds of those on the campus and outside, and thus help find the way of making life richer and fuller for each one. To help each one to be able to say with Paul, "For to me to live is Christ"—that is our aim.

The Intersociety Council was first organized in 1926 when articles of agreement were drawn up and adopted by the four college literary societies, the Adelphian and Aurora for the men, and the Avon and Vesperian societies for the women. During the past year the articles were revised and amended.

One of the functions of the council is to arrange for conjoint public programs of the societies. The revised agreement provides for three such programs each year, one during the first semester in which all societies participate and two during the second semester, the Avons and Auroras providing one program and the Adelphians and Vesperians the other. This year the program of the first semester was made a part of the Homecoming festivities and as such was highly successful.

All members of the College and Academy Literary Societies automatically become, by virtue of their literary membership, members of the S. L. A. Officers are chosen usually in April, for the ensuing year. The Book Committee is composed of one representative from each of the literary societies together with the Faculty advisor who serves as chairman of the Book Committee. Desiring to develop a professional interest among the members and to awaken in each one a new realization of the necessity of education for homemakers, the Home Economics Club was organized and has been maintained for three years.

The programs of the year have been varied in both type and content. A very interesting and educational talk was given by Mrs. M. C. Lehman on the "Homes of India." The club found it interesting to learn under what conditions the people of that large nation live. Miss Olive Wyse in our March meeting read a worthwhile and practical paper on the "Relation of Vitamin A to Infectious Diseases and General Health." Later Miss Dora Shantz, R. N., gave a very interesting talk on the "life of a nurse" speaking particularly of a nurse's qualifications, her training, and the value of her work. The largest project which was undertaken by the club this year was the serving of a buffet luncheon to the wives of the faculty members.

With such varied and educational meetings we feel that the club is continuing its growth and is becoming a very much worthwhile organization.

Le Cercle Francais of Goshen College was organized on October 19th of this school year. The purpose of this club is to increase interest in France and create a deeper appreciation of her literature, her ideals and culture.

Interesting programs consisting of readings, extracts from the classic French dramas, musical numbers and timely reports, were given each month. At one meeting Mr. Noble Kreider spoke to us on his travels in France; on another occasion Mr. Jobson, a missionary to French Africa, told us of his work there and his experiences in France before going to Africa.

On Tuesday evening, April 14th, Mr. Victor Prahl, a baritone from Paris, France, was presented by the club at the college in a recital. The proceeds from this program were used in buying French books for our library.

During the year there were nearly fifty books added to the French Library by the S. L. A., the club, and friends. A number of photographic reproductions of famous historical places in France were also bought by the club. Two of these were presented to the library, one the Y. M. C. A. for the social room in Coffman Hall, and one to the Y. W. C. A. for the social room in Kulp Hall.

The Society was established in 1924 to promote interest and endeavor in the field of Mennonite and Anabaptist history. Its membership is composed of faculty, students, and a few others from the surrounding community. Its work falls into three parts. (1) Several public programs are given yearly at the college, to which outstanding speakers are invited. (2) It has established and maintains the Mennonite Historical Library at the college, which has now reached the impressive total of about two thousand volumes in addition to a large number of pamphlets, manuscripts, and other objects of historical value. (3) It encourages and supports reasearch in Mennonite history, in particular by the publication of a series known as Studies in Anabaptist and Mennonite History. The Society also has rare books on Mennonite history for sale.

Three public programs were given during the past year. The first program, which consisted of an opening reception together with a Mennonite Historical exhibit, was held on December 12, 1930. The second program consisted of addresses by D. J. Johns and J. S. Hartzler on the life and work of John S. Coffman. It was held during the Ministers' Week, on February 18, 1931. The third program was given on May 19, by Milo Kauffman, who gave an address on the history of Mennonite Sunday schools in Elkhart County, Indiana. The Society also has a Peace Committee which was active during the year, particularly in sending out peace deputation teams who gave a total of ten programs in various Mennonite churches in the Middle West.

The Christian Workers' Band and The Foreign Volunteer Band

STANLEY MILLER, President _____ Christian Workers' Band
IRENE LEHMAN, President _____ Foreign Volunteer Band

The attention of the Christian Workers' Band has been centered upon work in the home-field. Many of our speakers have pointed out the numerous places that should be filled, challenging us to carefully examine our own lives in reference to our relation with Christ.

The literature distribution of a year ago has developed into a real work. Instead of only discussing such work in our meetings many of our members have the privilege of getting practical experience in the two Sunday Schools in North and East Goshen.

The Foreign Volunteer Band is composed of full volunteers and those who are definitely interested in Foreign Mission work. Endeavors have been made to become acquainted with the problems which confront a prospective foreign worker. Emphasis has been placed upon the qualifications necessary for a foreign missionary and the necessity of a thorough foundation at home before leaving for a foreign country. An effort has been made through correspondence to keep in touch with the missionaries now on the field in South America and India, in order to receive first hand information from direct mission work.

Intercollegiate Debating–Negative Team

The negative intercollegiate debating team of Goshen College for 1930-1931 consisted of Leonard Kreider, captain, Ray Litwiller, and Abram Hallman, with Samuel Hershberger as alternate. The three speaking members of the team being seniors, had worked together on the state question in a debate with the Junior class team in December. Consequently they had opportunity to work into the question with a degree of thoroughness which made for very effective intercollegiate debating later on.

The negative team was originally scheduled to meet two teams in debate, one representing Wheaton College on the Goshen floor and another representing Taylor University at Taylor. Due to illness on the part of the Wheaton debaters, however, this contest had to be cancelled, leaving only the debate with Taylor. This debate was held on March 19th at Upland. The Goshen team arrived on the Taylor campus in the late afternoon and found its host capable of delightful entertainment as well as excellent debating.

The question for debate was, Resolved: That upon the declaration of war with another nation our government should use only conscripted wealth for all expenditures involved in the war.

Both teams did creditable work and the outcome was in doubt until the very last. The Goshen team was more uniform in ability and performance than the Taylor team. The outstanding work of the evening, possibly, was done by the final speaker on the Taylor team, but the work of the remaining two members did not measure up to the standard. The judge, Miss Pearl Reist of Marion College, gave her decision to the Taylor team.

Intercollegiate Debating–Affirmative Team

The affirmative intercollegiate debating team for 1930-1931 was composed of Niemann Brunk, captain, Ellis Hostetler, Glenwood Schertz, and James Steiner, alternate. The team engaged in two debates, one on the home floor on the evening of March 6 with a team from Taylor University and one on the evening of March 13 at Wheaton College, Wheaton, Illinois, with a team from that school. The first debate was judged by Professor Paul Kendall, debating coach at the Concord High School, and resulted in a 2 - 0 victory for the Goshen team. The second debate was a no-decision debate, at the request of the Wheaton team. The question used was the Indiana State Debating League question, "Resolved: That upon declaration of war with a foreign country the United States should use only conscripted wealth to finance all war expenditures." The team did superior work, quite up to the high standard of debating held at Goshen College in previous years when intercollegiate debating was in vogue. The work was characterized by a well-planned, close-knit case with strong supporting arguments, smooth and effective delivery, as well as very successful rebuttal speeches. The judge in the Taylor - Goshen debate commended the men especially for the strong case and the excellent rebuttal. The wheaton debate was not so satisfactory because it was in effect a practice debate without an audience, whereas the Taylor debate enjoyed the presence of a large audience of interested students and friends. The work of the team in the Wheaton debate was also of superior quality and would without question have won the decision had there been one. It is fortunate that three of the members of this strong affirmative team will return next year and will be able to carry the burden of the debating program for 1931 - 32.

Inter-Class Debates

The first inter-class debate of the year was held on the evening of December 5, 1930, between the Junior and Senior teams. Members of the teams were selected on the basis of the ranking made in a debate try-out, in which all men in the classes trying out were eligible to participate. The question for debate was: Resolved, That upon the declaration of war with another nation our government shall use only conscripted wealth for all expenditures involved in the war. Judges of the debate were: President S. C. Yoder, Professor H. S. Bender, and Professor W. H. Smith. The decision of the judges was 2 to 1 in favor of the affirmative, which was upheld by the Junior team. An audience vote also favored the Junior team, 28 to 16.

The second inter-class debate of the year was held on the evening of December 19, 1930. The Sophomores upheld the affirmative and the Freshman the negative of the question: Resolved: That the present system of instalment buying should be condemned. Judges for the debate were Mr. Shanklin, debating coach in the Goshen High school, Mr. Kendall, debating coach in Concord Township High school, and D. S. Gerig, instructor in history and social science in the Goshen High school. The decision was 2 to 1 in favor of the affirmative team.

The superior strength of the affirmative lay in their ability to adapt themselves in the rebuttals to the constructive arguments of their opponents. However the debate was very close, as evidenced by the decision of the judges.

The four coaches comprise the faculty committee on debate and oratory, with Professor Umble chairman of the committee.

The A Capella Chorus is composed of the Men's Chorus of twenty-four members and the Ladies' Chorus of twenty-three members plus Mabel Heiser and June Fogelsonger. Through the cooperation of the director and members heavier numbers were undertaken this year than in previous years. The effort proved successful.

During the year several short trips were made to surrounding churches and high schools including a trip to Chicago, Illinois. The program was greatly appreciated as was indicated by the large audiences and the response to the numbers given.

Student Lecture Board

The Student Lecture Board consists of four faculty members and one representative from each of the five literary societies. The Lecture Board as a whole selects such numbers as appear to be most interesting and valuable to the college community. The students then advertise the numbers, take complete charge of the sale of tickets, and provide the ushers. This year the course was very well arranged and interesting.

The first number was rendered by Rollin Pease, an outstanding baritone soloist, on October 17th. Mr. Pease presented an interesting and varied group of selections.

During Home-Coming Week in November, the Welsh Imperial Singers, under the direction of R. Festyn Davies, gave a splendid program of chorus numbers and vocal solos.

On January 20th, Lew Sarett, already a favorite with our college audience, gave his famous lecture "Slow Smoke." Mr. Sarett is a woodsman, poet, and noted lecturer.

On February 9th, Mr. Elliot James gave us an interesting demonstration lecture on liquid air.

The last lecture, on March 10th was different from any of the preceeding numbers this year. Anne Frierson, a young Southern writer entertained us with stories and songs, depicting the life of the Gullah negro of Carolina.

The major project of the Association during the past year has been the publication of the Alumni Directory. This was published in place of the October number of the Alumni News Letter as a number of the Goshen College Bulletin. Dr. Silas Hertzler, secretary of the organization, and Professor John Umble, editor of the Alumni News Letter, are largely responsible for the success and accuracy of this book. An interesting review of the Directory, also by Dr. Hertzler, appears in the July number of the Mennonite Quarterly Review.

The Executive Committee met at the college on the evening of March 27, 1931. The chief point of interest in this meeting was the proposed new plan for Alumni Association Membership. The Committee decided to recommend to the Board of Directors that all students who have attended Goshen College for one year be considered eligible for membership in the Association.

The 1930 August Reunion was larger and more representative that it has ever been before and is becoming a valuable part of Alumni Association activities.

Athletic Council

The purpose of athletics at Goshen College is to provide wholesome recreation and physical education. To carry out this purpose two Athletic Associations have been organized, one for men, the other for women. The physical education class work consists of exercises, games, and drills on the fundamentals of physical development. The Athletic program centers in the activity of teams and in individual competition. For the athletic program awards are made which are a means of stimulating interest in the better development of skills for various types of athletic activities. The basis for awards may be seen by the following programs:

Basketball

The basketball season plays a prominent part in the athletic program of the year. To give all an equal chance to avail themselves of this form of recreation an inter-class schedule is arranged. This year five teams were scheduled thus affording an opportunity for about forty men to play basketball. A second division of the program calls for a series of games between men who are more skilled in the game than the average inter-class player. Points in all games are awarded on the basis of games played and games won or lost. Although interest inter-class games ran high at tournament time the most thrilling struggles were those of the second division.

Baseball

Baseball is classified as a major sport with team competition as a basis for scoring points. Since the athletic program calls for no other major sport in the fall a few games are played at this season. With the coming of spring, however, there is greater activity on the diamond. The chief difficulty this past season was to select the first nine men because there were two or three men for each position.

A schedule of 10 games was arranged which enabled a man to earn as high as forty points provided he was entitled to 10 winning games. This method of scoring places baseball on par with basketball, the associated major sport. The first of a series of intersociety games was won by the Aurora team. By bunching their hits and taking advantage of errors they easily came out on top of the seven to one score, although this game was not an indication of the strength of the two teams. The schedule calls for several intramural games between selected teams, a series of intersociety games, and several ex-student games, one to be played during Commencement Week.

Much interest was shown in kitten ball during the fall months. The athletic committee organized four teams by selection from a list of those desiring to play. The series of games played was very exciting for the teams were evenly matched. The Wildcats and the 11's played the deciding game for championship. By splendid field work and consistent hitting the Wildcats finally emerged the victors. The final standing is listed below:

Team	Won	Lost	Per cent
Wildcats	3	0	1000
11's	2	1	.666
A's	1	2	.333

Activity in track and field events has been stimulated this spring by the addition of new and promising material. Because of considerable interest a new event has been added to the schedule. The pentathlon is a five event meet in which every contestant enters in all five events. With a fine athletic field, adequate jumping pits, and a fast quarter-mile ovel, interest should increase with each new year that men are drawn to the campus.

—ORIE EIGSTI.

Tennis

The quality of tennis played at Goshen College has been constantly improving during the past four years. Last spring after several hotly contested matches the men's singles was won by Leonard Kreider, with Glenwood Schertz and David Leichty ranking second and third.

This year the three ranking players of last spring are in school again along with Orie Miller and Robert Bender who are both showing improved form. Welcome competition has come from new students in the persons of Joe Bradford, Howard Nase, Paul George, Nate Warstler, and Paul Zook.

There was marked interest in tennis last fall, which was aided by the adoption of the perpetual tournament system found so successful here last spring. In the middle of November, at the close of the fall season, the high men ranked as follows: Bradford, Nase, Kreider, Schertz.

This spring all five tennis courts were in active service by the first week of April, and they are in almost constant use. Both men and women are using the perpetual tournament plan in providing a suitable incentive for competition in the singles. By the middle of May these tournaments will end and the sixteen best players in each will enter elimination tournaments to determine their rank for the season.

In the men's tournament present indications are that Joe Bradford with his steady game, backed by sound strokes and court strategy will place first, with a close race developing among Nase, Schertz, George, Leichty, Warstler, and Kreider for the other desirable ratings. However, many others are showing constantly improving form, and with forty-five men in the tournament at present, anything may happen.

Of the thirty women in their singles tournament there are so many who play equally well that it is hard to forecast probable winners. Laverne Yoder, Thelma Griffith, Barbara Coffman, Alverda Schertz, Sarah Esch, and Verna Schertz seem to be among the better players.

In addition to the singles tournaments there will be five meets for the men consisting of two Aurora-Adelphian, one inter-class, and two other meets still to be arranged.

—Leonard Kreider.

Goshen College Ski Club

On any clear day the New Paris Hill, also called Waybright Hill may be seen from the campus as it rises over two hundred feet above the level of the surrounding country. To the north of Goshen are the Bristol hills with many high and very steep slopes. These hills are believed to have been formed by glaciers and are considered to be terminal moraines.

A group of students and faculty members organized a Ski Club in the early winter hoping to take advantage of Nature's ancient provisions for our sport and recreation. Probably a more discouraging winter could not have been selected for the initiation of the sports of skiing and tobogganing for though the hills were available, little snow was to be had. In spite of this during the brief periods when the hills were sufficiently blanketed enthusiasm ran high.

Having once experienced the thrills of cutting the wind by riding a toboggan down a steep undulating slope or streaking down on a pair of skis with many a tumble in the loose snow, the initiate resolves that there shall be more of this exhilarating sport.

FRESHMEN — CHAMPIONS

Women's Basketball

This year the executive committe of the Woman's Athletic Association decided that the basketball championship should be determined on the basis of the number of games lost or won in the round-robin tournament, together with the rating obtained in the elimination tournament which was held at the close of the season. Each class team met each other team only once in the round-robin tournament. Since this provided for only six public games there was more time for literary society and other games.

Due to the addition of several new members the Avon team was strengthened and more nearly matched with the Vesperian team. The upper class teams were all reorganized because of the loss of some of last year's players. However, on drafting new members they soon built up strong competitive teams. The freshman class came in with the usual strength and skill. The ability of Laverne Schertz, Evelyn Mast, and Alverda Schertz to connect with the basket combined with the defensive line-up of Mary Roth, Ruby Yontz, and Laverne Yoder won for them first place in the round-robin tournament. In exciting games the Juniors, Sophomores, and Seniors won second, third, and fourth place, respectively.

As is usually the case, the winner of the round-robin tournament was also the winner of the elimination tournament making the Freshmen the undisputed champions. The highest scoring players for the season with the average number of points per game were as follows. Barbara Coffman, 11 points; Irene Lehman, 9.25 points; Dorothy Smith, 7.75 points; and Alverda Schertz, 7.1 points.

Physical Education

OLIVE G. WYSE ..... Director for Women
ABRAM HALLMAN ..... Director for Men

A college education should develop the latent powers of an individual's personality so that he is capable of more fully participating in life and of making a larger contribution to it. Education through physical activities is one means of attaining this development. Physical education at its best is an all-around training in total body activities, mental plus physical. In other words, the basic principles of physical education aim at quality in life and living, and not, as some people suppose, at "perspiration and gymnastic contests", muscle building, spectacular exhibitions, and intercollegiate football. The real objective is the promotion of positive health, present and future. By positive health is meant a well adjusted and coordinated organism—a controlled mind and body able to meet successfully life situations.

Therefore, if physical education is to fulfill its purpose it must (1) have a program of activities that will develop strong, pliant muscles, well-poised bodies, sound organs, good neuro-muscular control, and that will include types of recreation which can be used after college days; (2) have well trained leadership that will effectively teach how to "keep up" and use this physical equipment, inspire a love of play and exercise, inculcate high ideals of living and standards of conduct, teach definite health habits and right mental attitudes. Mere activity in games and sports will not develop desirable character. Participation in group games and sports under proper leadership can develop in the participants self-confidence, self-control, fair play, good sportsmanship, and "fellowship" as well as leadership.

Dr. Jesse F. Williams, director of physical education, Teacher's College, Columbia, says that physical education should provide "skilled leadership and adequate facilities for individuals or groups to act in situations that are physically wholesome, mentally stimulating and satisfying and socially sound." Goshen College aims to provide such opportunity.

—OLIVE G. WYSE.

Just a Little Conundrum

Why are burglars like lumber?
Because they always go into the best houses.

Not only do we sell the majority of lumber for the best homes all around here, but we get most of the bills for barns, granaries and for all the buildings where good, sound, dry materials are required.

People have learned that there is a lot of difference in the quality of lumber, and as we make quality our "long suit" particular buyers take no chances, but buy what they need from us.

Our stock is complete and our prices as low as you can get.

Constantly Searching

For centuries astronomers have looked into the skies searching for new worlds, constellations and stars. Aside from their interesting research work, they have learned much that is of practical scientific value.

Similarly, in the field of student publications, the Indianapolis Engraving Company searches constantly for new ideas, plans and methods that will assist year-book staffs to publish successfully books characteristic of their school and community. The results of these efforts are gratifying.
